Proofreading and Editing in Student and Research Publication Contexts

International Perspectives

Edited By Nigel Harwood

This book explores proofreading and editing from a variety of research and practitioner-led perspectives to describe, debate, and interrogate roles and policies within the student and research publication context. Ultimately, the book offers vital discussions about the ethics and boundaries of proofreading and editing with experts sharing their experiences and recommendations for next steps. This book will be of relevance to postgraduate students, researchers and academics in the fields of literary studies, higher education, language arts, and applied linguistics. Teaching and learning professionals, policy makers, proofreaders, and editors can also benefit from the volume.

About the Editor

Nigel Harwood is Professor in Applied Linguistics, School of English, University of Sheffield, UK.
